A Card From Dr. Joynes

"Let me congratulate you on capital of The GAMECOCK.
A few words are the manner of his the.
"Mr. Houston, and the city of Dr.入库
"Why not Photograph Albums
"Jokes good, but, best of all, the Island of "Why not, rather, the River of Rye, which, like Ten-
"dian, glowing in the audience, and the victorious Mr. Sheppard's oration was highly complimented.
J. C. Massey, of the Clarisophic Society, made an eloquent plea for the children of our country. He cited the examples of the little ones growing up untought and in a world of crime and sin. He wished that education be given all so that this condition might be benefitted.
J. D. Lee, of the Euphradian Society, spoke upon "A Plea For the Ancient Languages." The speech went to show that was not in after life the study of the ancient languages be forgotten. The deep and noble influence which they have exerted upon our lives will ever be remembered and will for the betterment of the student of history.
"The subject of Gonzales' speech was "The South and Her Heroes." It was discussed throughout in a manner which suited to the occasion. The political stage of the South before the Civil War, her standing during the war with reference to her heroes, especially Lee and Hampton, and the South's position and her growth in comparison with the other parts of our country were treated in a scholarly and graceful way. The English used by the speaker was observed to be particularly effective. The speech, taken as a whole, was admirable, the judges declared.
R. E. Gonzales is the president of the Clarisophic Society, and has distinguished himself as local to the residents of the city of Charleston, S. C., April 3, 1908.

University Notes

The Board of Trustees are asking for bids for the new $30,000 building given by the Legislature. The time has come when there should be a permanent plan for the development of the University, and this building is to be a part of the general plan for the entire system of buildings that will some day be needed and will some day be built, a University which the people will be proud of.
Mr. August Kohn, A. B., '89, made an address on the 29th of February before the Graduate Class in Pedagogy, describing the general education conditions among the cotton mill operatives of the State. On the same day Dr. Joynes delivered a lecture on "English Analysis" at the Washington Street School.

The Legislature recently elected Mr. Fitz Hugh McMaster to the newly created office of Insurance Commissioner. Mr. McMaster, who graduated from the University in 1888, and also from the Law School in 1889, has been in the newspaper business for several years, being at present circulation manager of The State. He has had four years' experience in connection with insurance, so that he is well qualified to fill the office of Commissioner.

Lieu. Emile P. Moses, '99, and Saye Dunshbury, '01, have been advanced from second to first lieutenancy. Lieut. Moses is in the marine corps and stationed at Boston. Lieut. Dunshbury is stationed at Fort Monroe.

Hon. Joseph A. McCullough, of Greenville, who was recently appointed one of the receivers for the funds in the hands of the Commission to wind up the affairs of the Dispensary, and has withdrawn from the race for the Senatorship, obtained the degree of A. B. from the University in 1887, and of LL. B. in 1888.

Prof. W. H. Hand is kept so busy with the work of establishing high schools that he has little time at home. For this work the Legislature again appropriated the sum of $50,000, of which so much as will be needed will be used. This action of the Legislature last year, in this is one of the best things for the general welfare of South Carolina that it has done for many sessions.

The Librarians, Miss Rion and Miss Porcher, are making a bibliography of the things written by the alumni and the professors of the University from its foundation. Any assistance that any one can give in this undertaking will be highly appreciated, for it is no easy matter to find out what the alumni have written. When the much needed addition to the library is made, then there will be a special alcove set aside and known as the alumni alcove, in which will be kept the books, pamphlets, etc., written by the alumni and persons connected with the University. A full list of all that has been written will be made, so far as possible, and preserved there, although the writings may not be any longer accessible.

Mrs. Reed Stoney has been working to put up a tablet in the library to the memory of the South Carolina College students who were in the war, and she has succeeded in having the Wade Hampton Chapel of the Daughters of the Confederacy take this as their work for the current year.

The two South Carolinians who are now holding scholarships at Oxford are Mr. E. S. Towles, a graduate of Charleston College, who took a graduate course in the University in 1904-05, and Mr. W. P. Mills, of Camden, a graduate of Davidson College, who took his M. A. here last June. Mr. V. Cook, A. B., '07, has recently passed the examination and stands a very good chance to obtain the next vacant scholarship. The first Oxford scholar from South Carolina was the lamented William H. Verner, who took his A. B. from the University in 1900, and his M. A. in 1901.

Two Limericks

There was a young fellow called Teddy,
Who was always happy and ready;
Talking in Polit.
Yates told him to quit,
"I will do it directly," said he.

There was a young fellow named Corry,
Whose favorite song was Annie Laurie;
He got in a whirl,
And sang to his girl,
But since then he has been rather sorry.

If Theodore Were King

There would be embassies from the Sultan of Sulu,
And ministers come from the Kaffir and Zulu;
There'd be no race suicide.
For they all would die.
The father of less than four twins.
So he'd rule you.
If Theodore were king.

If Theodore were king
We would have ten battleships;
Which all Dreadnoughts would eclipse,
And we'd bombard Yolokhoma,
And we'd sail around Japan,
Throw the Emperor in a coma,
How I pity the poor man!
We would have enough of action—
Fill our foes with stupification.
If Theodore were king.

If Theodore were king
There would be a cabinet
Wherein only one could set
Who could demonstrate ability to spart,
Who plays a good game of tennis,
And is already ready when he's Called upon to hunt the grisly bar.
It is equally undeniable
That we'd all be undesirable.
Citizens if Theodore were king.