The new manager will start at an early date arranging a schedule for next year. The prospects, while the season is far off, are bright, and it looks as if Carolina will put out a winning team. With FitzSimons at the managerial end no doubt next season will be most successful.

BOLD THIEF VISITS UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

 Watches, Overcoats, Opera Glasses, Ring and Stick Pin Among Valuables Stolen—A Clue.

Two watches, two overcoats, two suits, a pair of opera glasses, a ring and a stick pin of some value are the takings of a bold robber that invaded the campus in the early days of the week. City Detective Richardson is after the thief, but as yet he has not been apprehended, although one watch and the opera glasses have been found in a local pawn shop.

Detective Richardson has ascertained the appearance of the man. He is tall, wears a dark gray suit, is slothly in his gait, and stays drunk. On his first invasion of the rooms he broke open a door and chopped the lock from a trunk with a hatchet, taking a suit from one of the trays. He did his work in the broad daylight, and made no signs of coming back on the campus after he had been seen and after it was known who he was. Professor Coleman is the proud loser of an overcoat, and he stated Friday morning that he would take the law into his own hands if the thief comes to light.

One of the overcoats was valued at $35 and a watch taken from Prof. Legare was a gold Waltham. The opera glasses and ring were the property of the same student, and are worth some $25. Altogether the stolen goods are estimated at $125.

The pawn broker who received the watch and glasses refused the suits that the man brought later. As the man has not returned to the pawn shop and can not be located as having disposed of the remaining goods, it is feared by the police that he has decamped from the city. If this be true there is small hope for finding the possessions taken.

FRESH AND SOPHS WILL BATTLE TODAY

Class Football Games Promised to be Close and Exciting—Schedule of Other Contests.

This afternoon the Freshmen and Sophomores will fight a football battle royal to determine which class will meet the winner of the Junior-Senior game.

Both teams have undergone rigid training during the past week. Von Kolnitz, who is coaching the Freshman team, and Passailaigue, the Sophomore coach, have been getting in some excellent practice for their teams in order to prepare them for the coming battle. Both teams have good material and it would not be an easy prediction to foretell the victors. The Sophomore class last season, when embroiled with their Freshman verdures, held the present Junior class at a tie in two successive games. Considering this, the Freshmen have something ahead to be dreaded.

The Junior-Senior game will be played Tuesday, the 12th. Then the winner of these two games will put up a hard fight on Thursday for winner of the trophy cup.

ALFRED VonKOLNITZ WILL CAPTAIN TEAM

Those Nominated for Block "C"s Decided on "Fritz" as the Gamecock to Guide Eleven.

Alfred VonKolnitz, class of 1913, was Wednesday night selected as captain of the 1912 football team at the University. The captain is elected by the members of the varsity squad who were nominated by the coach for block C's, regardless of whether the advisory so acted or not.

"Fritz," as he is familiarly known among the men of Carolina, came to the University from the College of Charleston, where he played both football and baseball with great success. He was captain of the Maroon and White last year.

VonKolnitz was not eligible under the S. I. A. R. rules and consequently played but little this year. However, he did good work in the games in which he played.

The new captain is a member of the junior law class. He succeeds Church Whitney of Rock Hill, who has played for two years on the Carolina team. Before coming to Carolina Whitney worked out at quarter on the Davidson eleven.

Alfred VonKolnitz is from Charleston. During his short stay at the University he has made many friends and the students feel that the team of 1912 is in good hands.

VonKolnitz is also a baseball player and it is expected that his catching will add materially to the strength of the team this year. He was captain for the College of Charleston, and was captain of the Maroon and White last year. He has been seen in action on Davis field several times.
