MAJ. DUVALL PLANS WORK FOR R. O. T. C.

Variety of Entertainment to be Given the Men in the Corps.

Those in authority at the University predict a great year for the R. O. T. C. The new commandant is busy planning for the formal opening of this department on October 1st, and present indications point to success. Athletic teams will be put out by the unit, according to Maj. Duvall, and every effort will be made to co-operate heartily with the other college organizations. Straw rides, tennis matches, competitive drills, etc., will be included in the year's schedule.

Officers for the unit will be chosen from the number of war veterans that have returned to the University. The men are occupying Dessau and Thornwell, as was the case last year.

The following statement was taken from an account of a trustees' meeting:

"Whether or not the motor school will be established, was left to the military committee. The entire board went on record as favoring such a school, which has been offered by the government, but final action will be taken later.

A unit of cavalry to be composed of some 50 odd horses and equipment may also be added to the reserve officers' training corps next session. The cavalry unit offered by the government was considered, but definite action was not taken. These branches of the University are in the control of the military committee, which is composed of B. A. Hageood, Holmes B. Spring, D. R. Coker, President Currell, Professor Keith and Professor Carson. Mr. Springs was put on the committee succeeding Mr. Kohn."

EXPERT OPINION

Boston Transcript

Foul Parent—So you heard my daughter sing. What do you think of her range?

Returned Artillery—I should say she ought to kill at three miles.

Bolshevism in its vilest form is little better than student factionalism.

College editors realize that "variety is the spice of life." There's plenty of spice in the variety of knocks they get.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW EXTENSIVELY ORGANIZED

Students Benefited by Institution Of Laboratory Work. New Equipment Installed.

The Law School of the University begins the new year with an enrollment of 55 Juniors, 19 Seniors and one special student. Like every other college department, it has the greatest chance in its history for success. The course has been extended by the addition of three recitation hours per week to the work of each professor, which results in the Seniors having fourteen hours per week and the Juniors thirteen. Arrangements have been made for Laboratory work in the Law Library, where courses will be given in the use of law books and in brief making. The students will be given practical work in the preparation of pleadings and in conveyances, including the examination of titles and the making of abstracts. The addition of this work will be of great advantage to the law men in that it will enable them to get practicing the session. This addition will be made in the law school during the year and will make it unnecessary for students to seek office employment, a condition which generally interferes with their studies.

During the summer constructive additions were made to the furniture and conveniences. Class rooms are now equipped with special desks for law work. The moot court room is supplied with a complete outfit, including judge's desk, clerk's desk, lawyer's table and jury room outfit. Plans are being made to have many constructive lectures from prominent judges and lawyers throughout the United States. A very gratifying fact about the new school is the remarkably large number of A. B. graduates that have enrolled for the law course.

Almost 20 soldiers from Camp Jackson are enrolled in classes at the University. We admire their spirit in taking advantage of this opportunity and at the same time attending to their duties in camp. The students extend them an invitation to join in our activities.

Nothing is impossible to a united student body. Stick together—don't knock the other fellow—and put Carolina in her place.
