Chanticleer Meeting

Among the organizations which have opened up on our campus within the last two or three years is the Chanticleer Club. This club devotes its attention to things of a more or less social nature. Its name Karl Kocher is the president of the organization. He took the place of Mr. W. M. Tobler, who is now teaching school in Burlington. Dr. A. A. Wam- shoppe, a former student of the school, was elected vice-president. It was largely due to Dr. Wam- shoppe’s efforts that the organization of the Chanticleer Club was begun this year.

Last Monday the Chanticleers held their first meeting of the year. Mr. Dobie, Clerk Sharp and J. C. Hanks were elected members to fill the vacancies created by the graduation of a number of older members. More members will be elected later.

Dr. Melton and College Spirit.

We have been hearing a great deal about the situation for the last few weeks, and when it really comes to the point, we have listened very patiently—awaiting the action of the President and President Billik Melton has been a

Friday afternoon our beloved presi- dent returned to the city in time to get out for the freshmen game between Carolina and Presbyterian College. Just after the game started the elements began to fall and all of the hand- holders in this body of ours lie flat on the ground. Es- pecially the band members and color- guards, because it would have made some of them to have gotten wet. But fellow students of all classes and the blisters to cheer the youngsters on victory. On glancing down at the ideal Student body of Carolina I found it to be occupied by the president. The rain continued to fall hard but it did not prevent Melton to leave. All during the first half he stood up and took his place in the cheering. Between the halves the President became as great that every body despaired of his election. But our ex- cuted was the last to go.

Saturday evening the rain visited the playing field again, and a great many of the students fled to the grandstand, but the man to whom we look for guidance is his regular place. Confidently the President Edward Melton was in his place of his regular place and announced the weather.

Follows, it is poor spirit to scatter about the campus and to think that when it is raining you get victory for this grand old school. Now that President Melton has taken over, and is showing us what real college spirit is, let us follow his examples and back the limit. C. T.

Wednesday Night Meeting at the "YW"

On Wednesday night, October 4, 1922, the second regular meeting of the "YW", as it is known in film circles. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Karl Kocher. It opened with the verse, "I know not who owns the world but in a word of prayer. Dr. Trudeloge of the Greek Students Union introduced President Kocher as the speaker of the evening. Dr. Trudeloge took as the subject of
