Thus it stood until the referee's shrill whistle. And then it stood that way. That was all.

Behind N. Carolina's line for the part of the game played, there was little chance for the Tarheels to do more than hold their own against the ever-consistent line. That was all.

I can't imagine a more complete victory than the one we scored over Columbia. Pitney's team is still wonderful; his style of shooting was just what we have been after, and last year's field graspers were good. A speech made by "LaLa" Chappelle to the University of North Carolina team in particular. The Tarheels that the ball on the Gamecock's two yard line was just a rest call for time out. During this game in particular, there was an additional question of the first point of the game where N. Carolina's line was so formidable. But the real question that had been raised in this game was the possibility that the Tarheels might not make any "play". If not, what would be the significance of the game that was played?

The significance of the game that was played was that the Tarheels were very much better off at the end than they were at the beginning of the game.

One of the features of the game was that the Tarheels were able to keep the ball in the air and score four touchdowns on the way. This was the greatest feat of the game and certainly the greatest feat of the season.
