The second and final point is that I think the custom set this year of having the elections in Columbia is a good one and should be continued. It changes the tone of the meetings.

Now it seems to me there is another thing which so many of us want, the publication of the hours. I do not believe in securing all the speakers to the ones on the more or less exclusive paper work. A newspaper man or a writer is a listener, or has a seat in the show to see the events of the world go by. As soon as he enters the scene his mind begins to work. We should have different programs each time-rewriting from that like Mr. Hickey's talk on the Associated Press to that of Prof. Kilpatrick's on Rus-sia. It would probably be a good idea to get the chief of police one time, the manager of one of the larger department stores, a minister, a member of the State House staff, or a president of either of a bank, anything that will give a certain side of life that we are unused to from our normal observation.

We, the officers and members of the social cabal are sorry that we have not have some varied programs this year, but we make excuses-the idea was new and no cooperation was received from the members other than those of the social committee. I wish to say that what has been accomplished we are principally to Miss Hughes, Miss Lindy Connell, and Mr. Pete, the three mem-ors of the committee members who have been in all matters pertaining to the club.

"I am open to suggestions at all times," he adds, "and I want the cooperation of every member of the Press Club towards making this organization the best of its kind."

Membership in the Press Club of present is open to all students in the School of Journalism and members of the staff of the student papers. At the meeting Wednesday night plans were discussed by which the club may be regulated and put on a more tangible basis. This was referred to the Executive Committee.

The Executive Committee is composed of the president, Mr. Robert Newberry, Mr. E. H. Heise, and Miss Elizabeth Lindy for the program committee. As the members of the club are interested in the business meeting the club adjourned to the Hay House Tuesday night and held a meeting and luncheon. The union of the two clubs and bridge formed the entertainment for the remainder of the evening.

PARKINSON GOES TO P. C. AS PRESIDENT

Doctor Parkinson has just turned 46, having been born in Lincoln county, middle Tennessee, January 1, 1867. He was graduated in 1905 from the high school of Moline, T. X., and in 1909 from Evansville college, where he received the B. S. degree. He studied at Georgia Peaceful College for Teachers and there got his master's degree in 1926. Several years later he returned to the same institution and got his Ph. D. Beyond his bachelor's degree, he has done three and one-third years of standdard graduate work, distributed as fol-

Ions.

1920, he was a member of the South Carolina board of trustees of the University. For the year 1923-24, he was executive secretary and treasurer of the South Carolina Teachers' Association, and so successfully he was in the re-election of this body, that he was honored the following year with the presidency. His service in building up the state teachers association is recog-sional and Professor of Journalism, from 1913 through 1928. He was president of the Lawrence Country Teachers' association, 1915-16. He has been a member of the board of retectors of the South Carolina Teachers' Association since 1923, and a diector of the Security Building and Loan association of Columbia since 1928. For three years he has been a special collaborator of the United States bureau of education. He is a member of a number of publications, notable among which are his thesis for his doctor's degree, on "The Professional Preparation and Certification of White Elementary and Secondary Public School Teachers in South Carolina." As director of the school, he has been an associate state high school inspector who resigned in 1920 to take the newly created place of director of extension and professor of school administration. This place he now holds. He has taught in the University summer school for three terms. Doctor Parkinson has found time for varied public service. From 1912 to 1920 he was a member of the South Carolina board of trustees of the University. For the year 1923-24, he was executive secretary and treasurer of the South Carolina Teachers' Association, and so successfully he was in the re-election of this body, that he was honored the following year with the presidency. His service in building up the state teachers association is recog-sional and Professor of Journalism, from 1913 through 1928. He was president of the Lawrence Country Teachers' association, 1915-16. He has been a member of the board of retectors of the South Carolina Teachers' Association since 1923, and a diector of the Security Building and Loan association of Columbia since 1928. For three years he has been a special collaborator of the United States bureau of education. He is a member of a number of publications, notable among which are his thesis for his doctor's degree, on "The Profes-

lic School Teachers in South Carolina." As director of the school, he has been an associate state high school inspector who resigned in personally to do much valuable work throughout the state, and his hand has been felt effectively in the upbuilding of the South Carolina high school league. That his administration of his important branch of the University has been met with sursces in the best evidenced by results which has been attracted to his efforts.

He, having marked executive ability, proper educational qualifications, the necessary religious attitude and ideas, and especially his work for this college which met with the approval of the trustees, the board took little time to choose him as president, and after conference with him, formally elected him as head of the institution.
