EUPHROSYNEANS GIVE RECEPTION FOR NEW GIRLS
Name of Each Guest Pinned on Film, Serving as Automatic Introduction.

RALPH LEWIS WINS PRIZE
Ice Cream of Black and Gold
Carries Out Society's Colors

The Euphrosynean Society, entertained most delightfully last night with a reception at Meriton Hall in honor of the freshmen and new girls.

The paraders were beautifully decorated with the society colors, gold and black. Flowers of gold and black were present in abundance, lending much beauty to the scene.

At each guest arrived, his name was pinned on him, automatically introducing him to everybody else.

The evening began with the ever present and ever wanted "Progressive Conversation." To many this was the choice time of the evening because of the opportunity it gave for getting acquainted. Much curiosity and anxiety were aroused when it came to passing the necessary tool on the donkey. The Gods favored Ralph Lewis, who mod-terly accepted the prize. Miss Thelma Lockman received a silver compact and Mr. Bannister Stewart a handmade handkerchief as the prize for highest score in the guessing contest. Dancing was also enjoyed by a great number.

Ice cream of black and gold, a color scheme that many of the guests regarded as unique, was served with cakes in addition to punch which was served throughout the evening.

Over a hundred young men and women enjoyed the hospitality of the Euphrosyneans.

The chaperones in attendance were: Mrs. Maddox, Mrs. Reece and Mrs. Beard.

J. R. MCKISSICK OUTLINES WORK FOR NEW YEAR
New Dean of Journalism Has Much Practical Experience in Journalistic Field

"Courses in the school of journalism will not undergo a radical change this year," said Dean McKissick of the school of journalism. "The aim of the school is to introduce the student to the ideals of modern journalism as much as possible," continued Dr. McKissick.

Registration in the school this year continued Mr. McKissick, who is geting his department work in line. He says that student this year will do much active reporting and that newspapers of the state and the larger papers of the country.

Mr. McKissick has had varied ex-erience in newspaper work in the state, doing general reportorial work for some time and then writing editor-ally, finally becoming owner and editor of The Greenville Piedmont of Greensville. Other than this work, he has been a professor of South Carolina history at Furman University and has done much research work in the field of history. He is a graduate of the University of South Carolina having both an academic degree and a degree in law.

Discussing newspaper work, and especially the training needed by the man or woman who intends to follow the profession, Mr. McKissick said that a good foundation in all the fundamental subjects, such as English, science, history, political science and social science, is absolutely necessary. He stressed the point that to be able to write, a reporter should have a thorough knowledge of his subject.

The school of journalism at the University was inaugurated five years ago while the late Dr. W. D. Melton was president of the institution. At this time only about 10 students were enrolled, the first one to graduating in 1925. The enrollment rose quickly each year, and this year over 90 students are enrolled, at least a third of whom intend to follow journalistic careers.
