The following officers were elected: President, Miss Thelma Burgess; Vice President, Miss Hattie Moore; Secretary, Mrs. Louise Fleming; Treasurer, Miss Virginia McHenry; Miss Thelma Lockwood; Misses Alice Andrews, and Miss Alice Trowbridge.

The society elected Miss Dita Johnson, junior valedictorian, and Miss Mildred Jones, junior junior orator.

In a few telling words the president's key was presented to Miss Dita Johnson, the retiring president, by Miss Thelma Brown, president-elect. Misses Ruth Brown, Beth Buie, Ruth Buie and Ethel Johnson were received into the society.

Dr. Carson's Radio Entertain Innmates.

Acording to the patients in the Infirmary, music not only has the power to soothe a savage breast, but m snaps and grins as well. Dr. Carson's radio, which has been generally accepted that the infirm patients can enjoy it, has been made to continue and urged to bring this pleasure to the students.

A listen to the recent stimulated opening fountain are other new assets that are adding to the comfort and pleasure of the infirmary. The fountain is an answer to a long-felt need among the students, and Mrs. Madden says that prevents much confusion and annoyance that were formerly present.

What Shakespeare says about Coca Cola

"Your name is great in mouths of wisest censure"—

Orchles had his faults. But we can forgive him everything because he gave us a perfect caption for an advertisement for Coca Cola: "The name was characteristic to a beverage to be had at almost any soda fountain. It means a single thing coming from a single source, and well known to the community."
