GERMAN MINORITY ASKS PROTECTION

In Petition To Faculty
With Constitutional Of German Club Filed With Dr.

A petition bearing the demand that the constitution of the German Club be filed with Dr. R. K. Foster, director of student activities, was recently placed with the faculty. The petitioners, Chicagoan students interested in German, say that a committee on Student Organiza tions appear certain chances to be in cited in the constitution of the German Club to protect the minority group. This demand arose as the re sult of a recent meeting of the German Club in which it was felt that the group was getting left out in an important way.

For some time there have been charges being thrown around the campus concerning the German Club, which was brought to a head in a recent letter of Professor Baker to the fraternitymen controlling the German Club. This is the first time in over four months that this has been heard from within. Last week a meeting of the club was called and despite a poor attendance the officers failed to appear and the meeting was adjourned without action.

This petition is the first formal demand that the faculty committee hold an investigation of the charges made by the group at an open hearing and to take action upon the findings of the investigation.

Tenement 23 Leads Contest
Of Discussion Groups

Thomas M. McCall, Head, Ten-ent In Second; Lead; Second Under P. L. Taylor

Tenement 23, under the leadership of Thomas M. McCall, has just completed the discussion group contest, with Tom Culp as his faculty secretary. Tenement 2 is second with its 22 points, and Tenement 3 is third with 14 points.

The top discussion group was Tenement 23, which gained 30 points. The contest was open to all sections of the college, and all divisions could be entered in it. The prize was three dollars.

At present there are approximately 50 students participating in these weekly discussion groups.

LONG WILL NOT ADDRESS SOCIETY

Student Henry Long will not speak to members of the Chiropody society at 4:00 o'clock tonight, as announced this week, advanced his representative from Chicago, Illinois, to the Columbia Hotel yesterday. The reason given was, said one of his friends, "he didn't think the students would turn out to hear him." But he would not comment further on the reasons behind his decision.

The Chiropody society, after a discussion of its plans for the meeting, that they would not permit Mr. Long to address its members.

Only three out of the seven voices were cast in favor of the resolution, with eight against. The meeting was then adjourned.

The junior law class had previously been invited to address the annual Junior-Senior law banquet, but remained absent and recalled the word from Mr. Long that he was neither interested nor accepted in the invitation. Your mothers should have bought you better manners.
