SUMMER-SCHOOL PLANS ARE GIVEN

May Graduate In Three Years
High school graduates desiring to enter the University in the summer may do so under the new plan to graduate in three years and three summer sessions.

Admission
Students are invited to the Gradu- ate School to the Committee on Graduate Admissions at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. Complete application forms must be submitted to the Graduate School before application can be made.

Schedule
The daily schedule of classes is arranged to meet the needs of each student and to meet the requirements of the University. Courses are offered in the departments of Arts, Science, Commerce, Education, English, Geography, and Social Studies. Faculty members are invited to discuss the plans for the summer sessions and to offer suggestions as to the best way of spending the summer.

At the end of the summer term degrees will be conferred upon candidates completing requirements for graduation.

Students Confined to University

Nine classes of fit and six injury confirmed a total of twelve students to the_infirmary during the past week. Mrs. Asher Miller, matron, disclosed yesterday. None of the cases were serious and the wards of the infirmary were expected to be empty today.

Those who spent at least one night in the hospital are as follows: Catharine Turner, C. A. Smith, Wyline J. B.akery, Henry L. Grandy, Betty H Ore, Albert Martin, Ed Sims, Rev. Williams, Louise Knowlton, St. Clair Fouchcet, Julius O., and V. V. Stiff.

Students are urged to visit the infirmary only during medical hours, which are: the names of all sponsors to be publicly announced in The Gamecock, (4) a pledge incorporating the oath he made in some convenient place so that anyone desiring may sign this declaration at any time, (5) the plan to go into effect only after being signed by not fewer than 10 students. Those students who had signed the oath late Wednesday night are: John L. Kumpf, Stan Carlberg, Theodore E. Ninestein, Walt S. Snith, Joe F. Campbell, Charles E. Simon, Jr., W. C. Overton, Harold W. Robertson, A. M. Brahma, Jr., Frank P. Finley, James Joyce, C. L. Simpson, James P. Morin, H. Harper Williams, Pat C. Smith, Louis Cane Bryan, F. Bay Seid, Billy Coleman, the signers of the oath.

We urge, the undersigned, recognizing our duties and responsibilities as actu- are: a council composed of six sponsors, selected by the faculty and six students, elected by the signers of the oath, to make sure that this document is properly worded and that each judge is acting in good faith.

The following is a list of the sponsors of the oath to be published in The Gamecock of May 7, 1936:
