Forty-Nine Legislators Are Carolina Graduates

Newly Elected Student Blatt and Governor Johnson Are Both Former Students University.

With forty-nine members of the legislature from South Carolina as graduates of the University and three more who have been elected to the assembly, it seems to have a 'Carolina flavor.' Of these forty-nine, twenty-five went out of office as students, but the University would not have a governor to stand at the head of the state government. Each one of these graduates is an asset to Carolina.

The governor, many of the chairs of the leading committees in the legislature are graduates of the University. Governor C. F. Ware, a member of the Social Sciences Committee; Frank Gehman, Jr., of the Ways and Means Committee; and J. D. Montague of the House of Representatives, are all Carolina men.

The total membership of the House of Representatives is 108, and this number is the same as before the last session. The University has 18 members, or one-fourth of the total number, which makes up the University of the Ways and Means Committee, Caliban Thomas, as of Bradstreet, chairman of the Committee; Olly Sawyer, of Coggin, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; and John D. Brown, of the Budget Committee, as members.
