McKissick will Speak

Fourteenth Annual Meeting of Bureau of Science of University of South Carolina Held May 1

Professors and students from colleges in the state will meet at the University in the Fourteenth Annual Meeting of the South Carolina Academy of Science in a joint session with the South Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society and the South Carolina Section of the Southern Society for Philosophy on May 1.

As is usual, the program has been arranged with speeches on various topics in the different fields. Dr. J. T. Montgomery and F. F. Phillips will speak for the Biology department of the University, and other speakers include Dr. J. Ross McKisco, and Profs. A. C. Johnson and L. L. Smith.

Visitors See Wonder Show

Ball Will Lecture

High School Students Will Be Entertained On April 29 With Exhibit

"The Horse of Wonder," University of South Carolina electrical show, will be presented in the University chapel April 29 to visiting high school students.

"The Horse of Wonder" was built by the School of Engineering at the university under the direction of the late Dean of the College of Engineering. It was never shown during high school work in 1913 and 1916. It was enlarged this winter.

SOPHOMORES MUST MAJOR COURSES

The period of April 15-30 is set aside for all students to major in the College of Arts and Science to prepare their major-choice programs of study for the junior and senior years according to A. E. Chason, Jr., registrar.

Every member of the sophomore class is expected to report to his or her major advisor, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., and after conference with the Professor of his or her major, is expected to obtain a major-major card provided for this purpose and should be informed by the Professor of the nature of the course of study that should be entered on the major-major card on the following morning.

Failure to comply with this regulation carries a penalty of $100.

Society Looks For Material

S. C. Item, Sought
Students Invited To Aid Organization In Search For Historical Data

You may have old newspapers, pamphlets hidden away in your attic or in some other place which holds historical value to the University Library. Students eager to learn the history of South Carolina items are interested in these papers, which are expected to be acquired by the University Library. The Society, which was organized on February 8, and which is now headed by J. M. Bowden, Associate Justice of the South Carolina Court of Appeals, has been formed to build up the South Carolina College of the University Library.

An attractivefolder describing the purposes of the Society will be available at the history office in Davis College.

Mr. Meacham states that at present many of the University students could not beце interested in the subject of the history of South Carolina, but by or about South Carolina, and by or about its leaders, its records, and maps of the State or of its subdivisions.

"Bumming"

By Jean Coote

The anti-bitch-biking law recently passed by Governor Sisson has created considerable comment on the campus, as many students homestead the fact that their only means of transportation has been substantially altered.

Several students and faculty members were asked to express their opinion, both adverse and favorable, on the law being revised.

"Although it may have its good points, I think it will not help the student," said the student. "There is nothing to the law which prevents a man from picking up a person whom he recognizes as a friend or local citizen."

Dean Baker: "I see no law makes for greater safety on highways. I urge students to be careful and to take advantage of the opportunity for free transportation which is offered by the law." A law enforcement official, who has been on the job for some time, said: "I think it is a pity that ordinary tramps have been hindered up by this law and that the motorists that have borne with the condition are greatly impressed with it."

Claude Neufeld: "This law deprives the individual of his personal rights as a free citizen. The highways are free for the tramp and for the man who rides, and for the man who drives a car."

Walter Bryant: "I think it is a pity that the law has been altered for the benefit of motorists who are picking up tricke-biking is unnecessary at this time."

Furthermore, the railroad is subject to be improved by the people of the State of catching rides to other places in order to avoid the expense of being "warmed up."
