FEATURED SENIOR SOLOIST

Tour Section Of Charles To Appear On Air

The university chorus tour section will make its first appearance on the University of South Carolina "WUSC" radio station, beginning this week. The station's regular program, "Morning Interlude," will feature the songs of the university chorus at Camp Walker in the state, during this summer.

The course of the tour is not precisely set out, but the chorus will make a tour of several Southern states, and the tour will be conducted under the direction of Charles DeLoach, director of the university chorus.

In addition to the regular performance at the station, the University of South Carolina "WUSC" radio station will also broadcast the program on a special night, to be announced later.
