March 5, 1954

The Gamecock

Page Three

Science Fair Is Scheduled for May 1

The university science department and extension division will sponsor a Science Fair to be held on the campus May 1, Dr. Julian J. Pettigrew, chairman, announced today.

High school and junior high school students are invited to submit exhibits in competition for the Science Fair for the best exhibit scholarship to the state and five $25 U. S. savings bonds.

Exhibits may be entered in any phase of junior and senior high science, high school general science, physics and mathematics, biology, and chemistry.

Judging will be based upon originality, creativity, ability, scientific thought and values, effectiveness, explanation and attractiveness.

Applications for exhibit must be submitted by April 15 and each exhibit must be sponsored by his principal or science teacher, from whom further information about the State Science Fair may be obtained.

---

Grounds Group Launches Program Improving Campus

These three oaks, which have been planted in the foreground of the Administration Building, were recently donated to the University by the Carolina Garden Club. The two oak trees in the background were presented by former students of the Columbia Garden Club. The third one is in memory of the late Mr. Albert Shellenberger, who has been a member of the Carolina Garden Club.

The human body's unique active motions are theblooming of the sleeping giant in the wonderful Balance of Life. It takes 1-1/2 to a second.

Barton Theater Will Perform at Columbia College

The Barton Theater of Virginia will present a tour of four William Shakespeare "classics" at the Columbia College Theater on Wednesday, March 14, at 8:30 p.m. for the perform- ance of "The Taming of the Shrew." Admission prices for the play are $1.50, $1.25, $1.00, and $.50 for students.

United States Embassy

The embassy in Washington has announced that the following people have been selected for the upcoming tour.

1. Margaret Week, a junior at the University of Virginia, who has been awarded a scholarship for this trip.
2. John Smith, a senior at the University of North Carolina, who has also been awarded a scholarship.
3. Robert Johnson, a sophomore at the University of Maryland, who has been selected for the tour based on his academic performance.

The tour includes visits to various countries in South America, Central America, and Mexico, providing an opportunity for cultural exchange and the study of different languages and customs.

Education Booklet Includes Foreign School Openings

For Fellowship...High Adventure...and a proud mission...for the wings of the U.S. Air Force!

A viation

America's Knights of the Sky

The Spartan Band that held the pass,
The Knights of Armor's voice
Light Brigade that the great, the good,
Across the battle field
Concept a glories title...
The dedicated few
Who sail on the mighty...of Silver...on a field of Air Force Blue.

(Continued on page 3 of this issue)

The Spartan Band that held the pass,
The Knights of Armor's voice
Light Brigade that the great, the good,
Across the battle field
Concept a glories title...
The dedicated few
Who sail on the mighty...of Silver...on a field of Air Force Blue.

(Continued on page 3 of this issue)

Debate Team Goes To South Atlantic Forensic Meet

To provide additional experience, the debate team will represent the university in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament at Junior Ellye Culkin, according to Prof. G. M. Chestnut, debate coach.

The team is coached by George Williams, John Allman and J. M. Goforth.

The debaters will compete with 60 teams from the South Atlantic region in the fields of oratory, ex- temporaneous speaking, after-dinner speaking, radio newscast and radio advertisements.

There will be 7 rounds of debate on the national topic, "Re- solved that the United States Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade."

Law School Frosh To Be Oriented, Prince Announces

An orientation week has been organized for freshmen in the law school, Dean Samuel L. Price has announced.

The Law Frosh Orientation, headed by G. Ross Anderson, has been planned in an effort to help freshmen adjust themselves to the law school environment and to prepare them for the rigorous academic work. Freshmen will be introduced to the dean, his assistants and the faculty, and will be shown around the campus and facilities.

The program will consist of lectures, seminars, and workshops designed to help freshmen adjust to the legal education and to familiarize them with the resources of the law school.

Bart Elmore, 18-year-old Rainbow Award recipient, freshman, and John Kirk, sophomore, have been appointed as student council presidents.

The orientation week will begin Monday night at 8:30 p.m. in the new auditorium.