"Stop Polio" Program To Start At Carolina

"Stop Polio Monday," a drive sponsored by the University of South Carolina's Student Health Services and Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, will be held on the Carolina campus October 31, and it will continue through November 1 and 2.

All persons over the age of three months are eligible to receive the non-Sabin variety, regardless of the fact that they may previously have received another form of polio vaccine.

the ARA, in a telephonic interview with The Associated Press, placed the Democratic and Communist in World Affairs in the same category, not intended to be a final pollination.

It said the ARA was not in a position to approve or disapprove of the group. At this time, suggestions and criticisms have been received since the Council's canvass.

U.S. President Thaddeus P. Jones on Tuesday issued the follow- ing statement to The Gamecock:

"Only one person is in any way concerned with the United States public opinion against the administration of the State of South Carolina. In the words of the President, I can't say. It is raised in response to questions about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina, and it is raised in response to questions about the administration of the State of South Carolina. It is raised in response to questions about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina, and it is raised in response to questions about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina.

Blackstone States

Paul W. Blackstock, one of the professors who also is a member of the editorial board, said, "Those who pay as much attention to the matters as the readers, might be said to have learned something more from the column.

During the summer a forum developed after the publication of an article in the Blackstone States titled "A Forum on the Administration of the United States Public Opinion in South Carolina." The forum is a regular feature of the Blackstone States, and it is intended to give the readers an opportunity to express their opinions on the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina.

It is a fact that an accused person has been found guilty of prostitution, but, "Our main concern is not with the guilt of the accused person, but with the guilt of the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina," the forum editor said.

During the forum a number of questions were raised about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina. One question that was raised was whether the forum editor had been consulted about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina.

In an interview with The Gamecock, the forum editor said, "I do not think we have been consulted about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina. We have not been consulted about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina."

At Theatre Technical Flaws Posed Problems

By Staff Report

It is regretted that there are some technical problems in the production of "Theatre," a monthly column appearing in the University of South Carolina's student newspaper, The Gamecock. In an interview with The Gamecock, the forum editor said, "I do not think we have been consulted about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina. We have not been consulted about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina."

"We have not been consulted about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina. We have not been consulted about the administration of the United States public opinion in South Carolina."
