Mideast

He cited as examples of these horrors Egypt's history of foreign domination and Israel's "prosecution with security," which goes back to the upheavals happened to the Jews in World War II.

Egypt seriously wants peace, Bergus said, but on its own terms, of course. He confirmed that Russians fly Egyptian aircraft to survey the U.S. 4th Fleet in the Mediterranean and over Egypt's heartland but they avoid the confrontation area.

Bergus does not think University of Cairo student agitation for war would influence Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. "Theres in a cry of desperation rather than a real war cry," he added. He also thinks the students want to "enjoy their exemption as students."
