Women’s group plans action

An organizational meeting for a state chapter of the Women’s Equity Action League (WEAL) will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 26 in Russell House 308.

WEAL, a national organization incorporated in 1968, promotes greater economic progress for women. Dealing mainly with sex discrimination in employment, WEAL works to combat by all lawful means discrimination in pay and promotional policies of public and private employers.

The organization also works to find solutions to educational and tax problems affecting women. Since its formation, WEAL has filed more than 300 suits against major colleges and universities in the country and is now beginning to file complaints of sex discrimination against banks and businesses.

These complaints are based on Executive Order No. 11375, which prohibits discrimination based on sex in employment by government contractors, and on Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Monday’s organizational meeting is open to the public. Men as well as women are invited.

Volunteers collect clothes for parolees

Old clothes are needed by the Office of Volunteer Services for donations to new parolees from correctional institutions. Any kind of clothing, mostly in sizes 32 waist for men and in varying sizes for women, can be used. The clothing will be donated through the Alston Wilkes Society.

Students with clothes to donate are asked to call the Office of Volunteer Services (777-3171) or bring them to the office (Room 210 of the Pendleton Building).

BOYS

Workshop Theatre will hold auditions for its production of “Boys in the Band,” from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 27.

Nine men will be needed for the production.

Production dates have been set from April 19 through 29.

YOUNG’S “HARVEST”

The music of Neil Young, including selections from “Harvest,” his new album, will be reviewed today on “Men and Music” from 3:30 to 4:00 p.m. on WUSC-FM. WUSC-FM is 89.9 on the radio dial.
