"They said, 'Reinhardt Reinhertz.' I said, 'Great, what are his credentials? They said, 'He's the silver medalist in the pole vault from the Olympics in Mexico City.'

"I said, 'In that case Bob Seagren should make the determination because he won the gold medal in 1968 and Leinertz only won the silver.'

"Finally, without any basis, they just took all the green poles, the Cata-poles, said they were illegal and said that the black poles were all right.

"An interesting sidelight to all of this is that the day before, Tuesday, the IAAF Congress approved Seagren's record vault which he did with the Cata-pole. They allowed him to have the world record but didn't allow him to use the pole in their own world championship."

Munich with their contributions. Those who advocate an open Olympics don't realize that very few athletes would be able to pay for the expenses without financial help from somewhere else."

"On the Stan Wright-Eddie Hart-Rey Robinson schedule mix-up—We had one copy of the schedule and they changed the order of the 100 meter and 10,000 meter trial heats. It could have happened to any of the coaches but it just happened that Stan was the first."
