Basketball Intra-Squad Game Is Preview To USC Season

Carolina's basketball team will have its annual intra-squad game Nov. 26 at 8:15 p.m. in South Carolina Coliseum, giving local fans their last chance to see the Gamecocks in action before they open with Toledo Dec. 1.

Admission to the squad game is $2 for adults and $1 for students who get into regular season games for free.

USC has three starters—senior Brian Winters and sophomores Mike Dunleavy and Alexander English—returning from last year's team which was 22-7 and went to the Midwest Regionals of the NCAA playoffs where it lost to Memphis State in Houston.

Sophomores Mark Greiner, a forward, and Bob Mathias, a center, are expected to be the other two starters for Coach Frank McGuire this year.
